Missionary Spotlight – Joel & Crystal Yoder

Ministry Training Center in NYC

The big news around here is that Janae is getting married next week! July 20 is the big day! Pray for all the final details to come together for that.

After LTO we were able to spend a few days in Virginia with my family the latter part of May. That was a fun time but not really all that relaxing. Whenever we spend time with extended family it seems that it’s a busy time – good, but busy. We need to keep connecting with our extended families but it makes it hard as far as our schedules go.

The end of June we were able to spend 3 days at Camp Deerpark with just our children. That was a special time. We have lots of memories of family time there over the years. It was one last thing before Janae gets married. We wanted to stay a couple of days longer but were not able to because of Camp’s schedule.

Crystal started hosting an English class for the ladies from church (mostly Chinese but also a Haitian lady). We also started a Bible study with one of the Chinese couples who most recently came to the US. They were not believers when they came but since being here have had a real encounter with Jesus! Their knowledge is very limited and studying together has been rewarding.

Other big news... Kristen is getting married in December! We are happy for her and excited about adding another son-in-law to the family!

Thank you all for praying and for your financial support. We are grateful.

Some prayer requests:

- For wisdom to balance life, family, ministry with the church, and ministry with the MTC.
- For those in the church membership class.
- For our Chinese friends and Bible studies with them.
- For wisdom to know what to do about Jerrica’s schooling for this Fall.
- Praise God we were able to find a venue for Kristen’s wedding! We plan to use the same church that we are using for Janae.
