Family of the Week – Jonathan & Althea

Dear CMF Family,

Hanc and Betta are coming to visit us next week. We pray that the Spirit will work out the connections and conversations that need to happen between our visitors and our friends here in Tarr. James and Annette (Campbell) Pinnacle also plan to be with us next week.

We are thankful for steady progress in translation. Staying focused and motivated is a continued battle for Jonathan, but by God’s grace (often in the shape of fellow workers), he continues to move ahead. Trace works with Hanc multiple times a week, and his mind continues to resist Truth even while he keeps coming back to work with us.

Betsam, a national sister in a distant city, remains in contact with Nora. Nora requested more materials in the local dialect, and Betsam has been finding and sending her videos, encouraging her in habits toward greater emotional and psychological well-being.

Armon, a friend who has spent 10 years or more completely disillusioned with all religions, is once more engaging with the possibility of Truth after a long conversation with Betsam and her mother last month.

We are near the end of our school year and will take a break before diving in to get a head-start in the next year.

God is on the move! Of course, He has always been on the move, but if feels like we can see it a bit more clearly now.

Althea, for the Bylers
